Statue In Memory of Katherine S. Meade Unveiled

A gift to the library from family and friends, the statue of Katherine Meade reading to her grandchildren was unveiled and dedicated on Saturday, October 15, 2022, to a large audience. Attendees included family, friends, former and current board members, and library staff, all wishing to honor Katherine's spirit of giving. The library was always important to Katherine and she performed many roles, including President of the Board and Interim Director. Especially important was her role as fundraiser and project director for the new library building, which opened in 2007 as the Fred & Harriett Taylor Memorial Library, where we are today. We invite the public to visit the patio and sit on the bench with the memorial to Katherine, which reflects her great love of books, family, and community.
