Goodbye Amber Stevens & Welcome Lauren Kennedy

Lauren Kennedy & Amber Stevens

*The Little Bookworms
Leadership
Old & New*

Amber Stevens has been responsible for developing the early childhood program, Little Bookworms, at the Fred & Harriett Taylor Memorial Library. A teacher with abundant talent, she has created a highly effective program that is meaningful to participants and caregivers.

Little Bookworms, designed for newborns through age 5, meets in the downstairs children's area of the library every Wednesday from 10:30-11:30. It includes stories, activities designed for various ages, and snacks.

Amber will be teaching at the elementary school in Penn Yan starting this fall and is turning Little Bookworms over to Lauren Kennedy, who has also been an elementary school teacher and has a strong background in early childhood education. Lauren has enjoyed bringing her child to Little Bookworms and is pleased to continue this very effective program. Lauren's first official Little Bookworm program will be on July 25th.

Many thanks to Amber for all that she has done for the Fred & Harriett Taylor Memorial Library, and a genuine welcome to Lauren Kennedy, who is taking the opportunity to continue this program, and will surely be putting her own stamp on it.
